

Welcome home,

Ddò Relais is our home in the Itria Valley, the most beautiful part of Puglia.

We stopped here, “Ddò”, as they say in the Apulian dialect, because we fell in love with this hillock, with the old lamia, with the large oak trees and the light of the place.

Our friend Leo Ancona, a refined interior designer, has been able to interpret our dreams , and together we have recovered where possible all the original materials integrating them with modern elements and with the things we love: contemporary art and photography.

The volumes, the light-coloured stone, the arches, the vaults, the old oven and the dry-stone walls are all heritage of the old farmhouse.

Ddò Relais is our dream that today we want to share with you, with those who travel and love this wonderful land, with those who are discovering it for the first time and with those who decide to go back again.
